NARROW ESCAPE.—The Lexington Democrat, says: "Little Miss Marie Brooks very narrowly escaped a horrible death Sunday while in Paris, the guest of Mr. James Ferguson's family. Mr.
Ferguson has a number of very fine dogs, and on Sunday afternoon while the little girl was driving about the place one of them who had gone mad, leaped at her, tore her clothes to threads and would have probably killed her had not Mr. Ferguson rushed to her rescue. He succeeded in preventing the animal from even biting her, but the experience was a very frightening one, indeed, and the little lady showed a wonderful amount of nerve for one so young."
